

Another Sample Revision

by Motivated User

I see that the `revision2document.xml` adds a footer to suggest that the author should be contacted to make revisions. This is not the opensource way. This would create a bottleneck at the author. Community feedback should be encouraged to go to the relevant listserver, and patches submitted via Bugzilla.

The author of the howto also suggests that feedback should go via the author.